On April 8, 1992, Academic Policies Committee approved the following:

1. The catalog definition of a seminar be amended to read as follows:

   An in-depth consideration of a significant scholarly problem or issue. Students pursue a supervised, independent inquiry on an aspect of the topic and exchange results through reports and discussions.

2. Seminar topics should be proposed by individual faculty members, and then, approved by the relevant department and by the Vice President and Dean of Academic Affairs. That approval will be contingent upon showing that the following criteria are satisfied:

   a. The topic falls within the instructor's expertise;
   b. the enrollment shall be limited to 15 students;
   c. appropriate resources for independent inquiry are readily available; and,
   d. only students with adequate academic preparation will be permitted to enroll.

3. Seminar topics will need to be approved with each offering.
