

QUOTIDIAN

A Mixed-Media Installation
& Exhibition by Hannah Burnworth

Nov. 28, 2016–March 26, 2017

Manila envelopes, vintage book pages, and wrapping paper: I am fascinated by all kinds of paper. I utilize paper in a variety of art forms, including handmade books, large mixed-media works, and primarily stitched-paper collage. For me, there is a natural ease in working with paper. As a child, my grandmother's seed catalogues offered hours of entertainment as I cut out single flowers to create elaborate bouquets. Working with paper feels like play.

I begin by sifting through my paper collection, snipping as I go. I intuitively arrange colors, textures, and images as I feel inspired. After I finish the composition, I glue, paint or stitch the pieces into place. Throughout this process, a set of symbols has instinctively appeared. At first, the symbols simply represented imagery I found aesthetically pleasing. Through practice though, I have come to realize that these symbols are much more. They represent how I spend my days, how I use my days, what is important to me, and how my life is being constructed.

A Mixed-Media Installation
& Exhibition by Hannah Burnworth

Nov. 28, 2016–March 26, 2017

Hannah Burnworth received her Bachelor of Arts in K-12 Art Education through Anderson University in 2005, and finished her master's degree, in 2011, at Herron School of Art and Design, in Indianapolis. During her undergraduate experience, she studied painting at the Chautauqua Institute in Chautauqua, NY. She has been teaching art for ten years in Indiana public schools, five of those years for Manchester Community Schools. She has been actively involved in Scholastic Art and Writing Awards both regionally and nationally with her students.

In addition to teaching, Hannah creates and shows artwork. She has been a part of group shows at Harrison Center for the Arts, Herron School of Art Design, and CCVA Gallery, in NY. Hannah has been an award winner at state and regional art fairs, including Best of Show honors at Charley Creek Art Fair in Wabash, Ind., and top-three honors at Art by the Riverside in Leo, Ind., and Leeper Park Art Fair in South Bend, Ind. She has been recently published in Sew Somerset Magazine's summer 2016 edition and is member of Artlink Gallery in Fort Wayne, Ind.
