

Psychology: A Cornerstone of Business

Maggie Vagle is a former sales director at Procter and Gamble for the billion dollar brand "Bounty" and is currently a financial advisor at Edward Jones.

Maggie majored in Peace Studies and English at Xavier University. Her husband Mike Vagle is one of the top financial advisors in Cincinnati and a limited partner at Edward Jones. Mike majored in Business at Hope College. Together, they will discuss how a liberal arts education and understanding psychology prepare students for careers in business. They will help students connect what they are learning now with future employment.

Manchester
University

Friday, April 15, 2016 | 3 p.m.
Academic Center | 101 Auditorium

Sponsored by: The Department of Psychology