Grades 6-8 | 9 a.m. - Noon

Manchester University
Science Center

This three-day, hands-on learning experience will take you outdoors, as well as into the laboratory, as you explore the world through the eyes of a scientist!

Day one, you'll spend on Manchester's campus, where you'll explore the Eel River ecosystem, examine the mysteries of chemistry, and learn how human bodies function.

On days two and three, you'll visit the Koinonia Biological Field Station, 12 miles north of Manchester University. There, you're explore the sport and science of fishing in Lake Larrew with a fisheries biologist, and learn about rocketry, aerospace and engineering through designing, building and launching bottle rockets. You'll learn, too, about birds and how they're captured and banded for scientific research. And you'll study with a botanist about common plants of the forest and how they can be used for medicinal purposes or food.

Robotics camp

In the LEGO® Robotics camp, you'll build, program and test real-life robots that move using motors with rotation sensors. You'll brainstorm to find creative solutions, then develop them through selecting, building, testing and evaluating. In computer labs, you'll capture the robot data, analyze and manipulate the robot.

Trophies awarded to both boys and girls.

Learn chess and participate in a tournament! Dr. Judd Case will teach you the rules, tactics, and strategies of one of the world's oldest, most revered games. He uses the U.S. Chess Federation's official Think Like a King program for youth, and emphasizes active, hands-on learning and good sportsmanship. By the end of camp, you'll have sharpened your chess skills and participated in a real chess tournament. Who knows? You might even take home your first chess trophy!

Participants will receive t-shirts and snacks will be provided.

LEGO camp

LEGO® Camp at Manchester University is a FUN way to learn! You'll build up to 10 different simple mechanisms and motorized machines, including a catapult, bridge, race car, merry-go-round, tower crane and more. LEGO® Camp uses kits designed to teach students basic principles about engineering, science, technology and math – but more than that, it's about working with other students, being creative ... and having FUN!

Registration fees include instruction, use of the LEGO® kits and a t-shirt. Sign up today, and invite a friend!
