Manchester University

MISSION STATEMENT

Manchester University respects the infinite worth of every individual and graduates persons of ability and conviction who draw upon their education and faith to lead principled, productive, and compassionate lives that improve the human condition.

HISTORY

Manchester University, founded in 1889, is an independent liberal arts university of the Church of the Brethren. In 2020-2021, 1,450 students from 36 states and 19 countries studied here.

Manchester University traces its origins to the Roanoke (Ind.) Classical Seminary founded by the United Brethren Church in 1860. The Seminary became Manchester College in 1889, when the school was moved to North Manchester. In 1895, members of the Church of the Brethren purchased the campus and this affiliation continues. Mount Morris College (Ill.) merged with Manchester College in 1932.

The University welcomes students of all faiths and celebrates its relationship with the Church of the Brethren. On July 1, 2012, Manchester College became Manchester University and, in fall 2012, students began studying at Manchester's Fort Wayne campus, home of the Pharmacy, Pharmacogenomics and Athletic Training Programs.

Manchester has been fully accredited since 1932 by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. The Teacher Education Program is accredited by the Indiana Professional Standards Board and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education. The Social Work Program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education. The Athletic Training Program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education. The Doctor of Pharmacy Program is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education.

VALUES STATEMENT

As a community of higher education rooted in the liberal arts and the traditions of the Church of the Brethren, Manchester University values:

- Learning, because high academic expectations in an environment combining liberal arts and professional preparation equip graduates to live healthy, productive and principled lives;
- Faith, because our diverse faiths call us to make the world a kinder and better place, establish justice, build peace amid strife, and model lives of agape (selfless love), tikkun olam (repairing a broken world), and salam (peace);
- Service, because committing self in service to others connects faith with action and abilities with convictions;
- Integrity, because honesty and trust are the foundations of teaching and learning, enriching, enduring relationships, and strong communities;
- Diversity, because understanding differences develops respect for ethnic, cultural and religious pluralism; an international consciousness; and an appreciation for the infinite worth of every person; and
- Community, because a positive community sharpens self-identity, promotes acceptance of the demands of responsible citizenship, and transforms conflict into mutual respect.

TRADITION

Each year, immediately following commencement ceremonies, our new graduates receive a small oak tree from the Alumni Association. An iconic symbol of the University, the oak represents the University's hope for our graduates – that they be strong, resilient and awe-inspiring, and that they rely on their deep roots to soar.

Academic Ceremonies and Regalia

Academic dress, inspired centuries ago in Europe, has evolved in the United States since colonial times. Today most colleges and universities, including Manchester, observe the academic dress code of the American Council on Education.

A scholar's highest degree determines the robe. Gowns for the master's and doctoral degrees are usually ankle length and, for bachelor's and master's degrees, untrimmed. A doctor's degree gown is more elaborate, with velvet facing and three velvet bars on full, bell-shaped sleeves.

Mortarboards are the standard headwear except for persons with doctorates who may chose a soft, rounded tam. Hoods, once worn on the head for warmth, are now draped over the shoulders and are longer for doctors than for masters.

Colors help tell the story. The color of the hood lining indicates the university where the graduate degree was earned. The color of the hood trim, satin for masters and velvet for doctorates, identifies the scholar's field. For those with doctorates, the velvet facing and bars of the gown may be black or the color of the academic discipline. Once only black, the gown itself can now be in the color of the university awarding the degree.

Honorary Degree Recipients

Dr. Wendy Robinson, superintendent of Fort Wayne Community Schools from 2003 until her retirement in 2020, is a champion of public education and nationally recognized for her expertise in urban education. In 2018, she was named Indiana Superintendent of the Year and was one of four finalists for National Superintendent of the Year by the American Association of School Administrators.

Robinson grew up in Fort Wayne, graduating from the former Central High School. She earned her bachelor's degree from DePauw University, two master's degrees from Indiana University-Purdue University Fort Wayne, and her Doctor of Education in educational administration and supervision from Ball State University.

In 1973, Robinson began her career as a third-grade teacher in the Fort Wayne Community Schools, teaching for 13 years. She then rose through the administrative ranks from assistant principal to district administrator and, eventually, to superintendent in 2003.

She is the first FWCS high school graduate to become district superintendent.

Robinson was a member of the inaugural class of Broad Center Fellows, a program designed to prepare and challenge urban school leaders. She has received numerous awards, including the National Alliance of Black School Educators 2009 Joseph E. Hill Superintendent of the Year Award.

She is the former president of the Indiana Urban Superintendent's Association and Learning Forward, a professional association devoted exclusively to those who work in educator professional development.

A lifelong resident of Wabash, Ind., Steve Ford graduated from Wabash High School before earning a degree in electrical engineering from Purdue University. After graduate studies at the University of Illinois, he returned to his hometown to work in the family business, Ford Meter Box Company

Inc. The company is a leading manufacturer of water meter setting and testing equipment, service line valves and fittings, as well as pipeline repair and restraint products for the waterworks industry. Produced in Indiana and Alabama, these products help deliver clean water critical to public health and economic development across North America and around the globe.

Ford worked At Ford Meter Box in the summers during college, learning from and alongside the company's longtime employees. He worked his way up and, through the years, developed experience in information technology, finance and accounting, sales, purchasing and engineering before becoming president and chief executive officer in 2006.

As the leader of Wabash's largest employer, Ford embraces his responsibility as a servant leader. The Ford Meter Box Foundation Inc. is the company's philanthropic arm and supports arts and culture, education, health, youth development and community development. Ford is particularly passionate about the importance of education at every stage and served eight years on the Manchester University Board of Trustees.

Ford's long list of involvements include the Honeywell Foundation Board, Community Foundation of Wabash County, the Northeast Indiana Regional Partnership, the Wabash Area Chamber of Commerce, ARC of Wabash County and the Wabash County United Fund, to name just a few.
