EXSC 310 Study Away Trip to Germany, Amsterdam and Spain

During our trip to Europe, we toured athletic facilities, competed in popular sports specific to the country we were in at the time, and explored diets and nutrition that are not typical in our areas at home. These experiences provided knowledge such as the diets of the athletes of other countries and certain training programs that work for other athletes of sports that are common in the United States. This was truly a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity and I am pleased that I was able to experience it with my friends and professors at Manchester University!

Study Away Trip to Guatemala

Going on the trip helped me to grow both personally and professionally. My first medical practicum helped me to figure out pharmacy is what I want to do. My second medical practicum gave me the opportunity to apply the knowledge that I gained in pharmacy school.
