2012 FISCAL YEAR
JULY 1, 2011 - JUNE 30, 2012

President's REPORT

From the
PRESIDENT

Shovels in hand, we dug into this past year with determination and ended with towering achievements. In one whirlwind year, we announced a $100 million campaign, built an entire campus in Fort Wayne, enrolled our first class in our four-year Pharmacy doctoral program, transformed Holl-Kintner Hall of Science into an accessible high-tech learning center for 14 disciplines, and set records in scholarships awarded and students enrolled.

By the end of our fiscal year on June 30, 2012, Manchester was an institution far more complex than its modest beginnings as a liberal arts college 123 years earlier. That complexity led our Board of Trustees to select a new name – Manchester University.

Mission Statement

Manchester University respects the infinite worth of every individual and graduates persons of ability and conviction who draw upon their education and faith to lead principled, productive, and compassionate lives that improve the human condition.

We evaluate our decisions by the ways they support our strategic priorities. Those four priorities drive our discussions of new ventures and programs as well as our assessment of programs already in place. This year's priorities are straightforward:

1. Inspire effective learning to enable students to exceed everyone's expectations.
2. Be "mission centered and market smart" to maximize our impact in the world.
3. Tell a compelling institutional story to widen support for Manchester's Mission.
4. Generate a financial margin sufficient to support Manchester's Mission and Vision.

ENROLLMENT

STUDENTS FIRST! $100 MILLION CAMPAIGN TOTAL GIFTS, PLEDGES AND PLANNED GIFTS BY FISCAL YEAR

*Includes $35 million Lilly Endowment Inc. grant

We made history and headlines in our announcement of Manchester's largest fundraising campaign ever. Students First! already is transforming where and how our students learn.

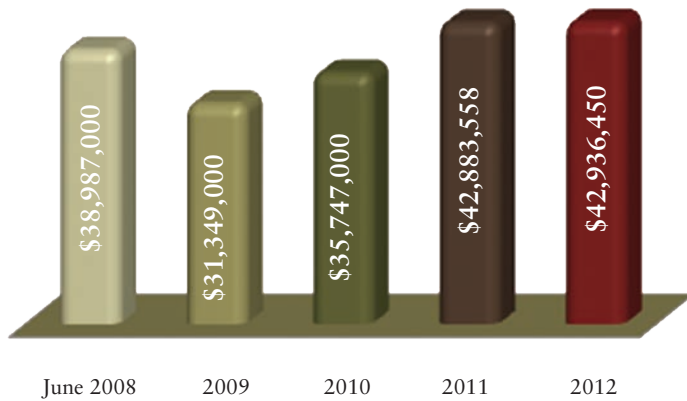

The campaign supports our top priority – our students. It supports our strategic priorities because it is market smart and mission focused. Everything about our bold $100 million campaign helps develop our students to lead principled, productive and compassionate lives that improve the human condition.

We worked hard behind the scenes to raise $73 million in major donor commitments before we "went public" with the $100 million goal in October 2011. By the end of June 2012, we had nearly $80 million in hand or committed through pledges and planned giving. The total included campaign gifts, Manchester Fund giving, and the $35 million grant we received the previous year from Lilly Endowment Inc., for our Pharmacy program. All of these commitments will serve our students well in the future.

By the end of our fiscal year in June 2012 – the reporting period of this President's Report – we had put that $80 million in commitments and cash to inspirational use by:

- Providing a record $14.4 million in academic scholarships
- Surpassing a 1,300 enrollment goal for the first time in 40 years

- Moving our College of Pharmacy into a tailor-made facility on a new campus in Fort Wayne
- Receiving pre-candidate accreditation status and enrolling 64 students in our first class, each studying toward a four-year, professional Doctor of Pharmacy degree
- Building an accessible, modern, well-equipped Academic Center that inspires learning collaborations for 14 of our academic disciplines
- Creating an energetic first impression of the North Manchester campus for prospective students with a Welcome Center admissions complex in the Academic Center

GIFT COMMITMENTS TO STUDENTS FIRST!

Total $8,725,567

- Cash 53%
- Pledges 4%
- Planned Gifts 43%

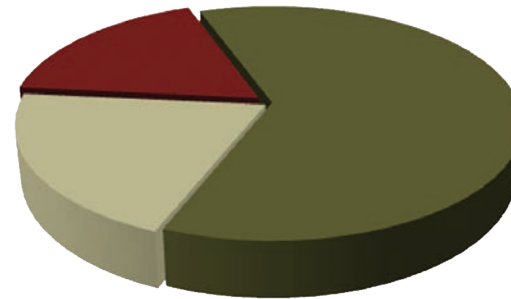

Important for enrollment and fundraising, our message is heard across the nation. U.S. News & World Report hailed us for our academic quality and The Princeton Review reported that Manchester “professors are really passionate about what they teach.” We were chosen as a “Best College” by those leading guides for college-bound students. Employers and other schools are listening: More than 94 percent of our May 2012 graduates had jobs or were in graduate studies by Thanksgiving.

Our students presented their research at state and regional professional conferences and brought home honors in state CPA and Mock Trial competitions. Their names appeared in Who’s Who, and we marveled at the scholarship and diversity of topics at our annual Student Research Symposium.

THE MANCHESTER FUND

STUDENTS FIRST! GIVING BY SOURCE

- Alumni 61.6%
- Foundations 17.9%
- Friends, Corporations, Churches, Parents 20.5%

We were declared a “Great Place to Work” by The Chronicle of Higher Education for the third year in a row. Hundreds of faculty, staff and retirees endorse the Mission of Manchester with donations to Students First! A full 100 percent of our faculty have contributed or pledged to the campaign!

Throughout the 2012 fiscal year, our students told the Manchester story. They starred on stage, in videos, on posters and banners, and in print with their testimonials and thank you messages to donors for the Students First! campaign.

Our students stepped up to a White House challenge to improve literacy and reduce hunger in the North Manchester community, creating an example for other campuses across the country. Entire classes designed campaigns to help curb drunk and texting drivers. Students gave blood, tutored, raised funds for charities, and served hot meals to our less-fortunate neighbors and their children.

It was a fine year, and a fine time to set the stage for a new name and for inspiring thousands of donors to contribute the $20 million remaining to put Students First!

Celebrating Stewardship contains reports from two different calendars. The donor "Honor Rolls" celebrate giving during the 2012 calendar year, making it easy for donors to track their giving for their tax reporting. This President's Report reflects Manchester's fiscal year, from July 1, 2011, through June 30, 2012.

2012 Fiscal Year Highlights

$100 million goal puts Students First!

A $100 million Students First! campaign not only is transforming the physical Manchester but also our programs and possibilities. The unprecedented goal is supported by million-dollar leadership giving. By June 30 (end of 2012 fiscal year), alumni and friends had committed an inspirational $79.9 million to strengthen the endowment, provide scholarships and create deeper and richer educational experiences. Students First! now turns to all Manchester donors for their support.

Uniting in University

The Board of Trustees voted to change our name to Manchester University, effective July 1, 2012. The new name reflects Manchester's expanding educational competencies and goals – and its institutional complexity, including a Fort Wayne campus. “Our name change represents an evolutionary step for Manchester, not a revolution of Mission or purpose,” said President Jo Young '69 Switzer. Work began immediately to tell the MU story on the website, in media and logos, admissions and marketing.

Indiana receives a fresh dose of Manchester

An August 2011 groundbreaking for a new Fort Wayne campus for the College of Pharmacy also helped Manchester gain February pre-candidate accreditation and approval to begin enrolling students in the four-year Doctor of Pharmacy program. The new Pharmacy dean is our executive vice president, Dave McFadden '82, who is well-versed in Manchester's Mission, enrollment strategy and the College of Pharmacy's growing presence in Indiana.

Holl-Kintner skeleton forms Academic Center

Faculty moved in, checked out their classrooms and promptly began collaborating among disciplines in the $9.1 million Academic Center in late May, two weeks ahead of schedule. All have brand-new, accessible spaces in the center of campus. A new Welcome Center gives prospective students a fantastic view of campus.

Mission + The Bottom Line = Students

Strategically critical student recruitment set 40-year records, even while other schools strained. Drawing from a stable endowment and mindful budgeting, Manchester awarded a record $14.4 million in academic scholarships to fall 2011 students. That assistance encouraged families to send a record 1,320 students from 24 states and 24 countries.

Mr. President, here's how Manchester does it

It was a natural for Manchester: Accept (and fulfill!) a White House challenge to partner with local churches to boost literacy and reduce poverty in North Manchester. Manchester is among 200 schools nationwide invited to set the pace for the President's Interfaith and Community Service Challenge. Our Office of Volunteer Services coordinated more than 35,000 hours of community service, from reading programs and serving meals for the needy to blood drives and fund drives for worthy causes.

Manchester's more than good, it's GREAT!

Manchester is on all the important “A” lists of greats. The Chronicle of Higher Education says we're a “Great College to Work For,” giving high marks for our teaching environment and professional development programs. U.S. News and World Report continues to promote Manchester as “A Great School at a Great Price.” Other leading guides for college-bound students agree: Manchester is a great value for strong academics.

Unrestricted gratitude, servant-based

Servant-based leadership drives Linda Williamson '93 Kroll and Doug Kroll '93 to pay it forward as stewards and leaders for Manchester University. The two earned their Master of Accounting degrees together at Manchester and have carried the “Faith, Learning, and Service” creed to their careers at University of Notre Dame, where Doug is senior director of information technology and Linda is director of budgeting and financial planning.

The Krolls credit Manchester’s placement and internship programs with helping them land great jobs. “Manchester’s accounting program elevated us above the field,” said Doug, who mentors Manchester grads and is a member of the MU President’s Leadership Council. “For the many blessings we have been given in life, we feel like we owe a lot to the foundation that gave us the concept of being a servant,” said Linda. With careers steeped in accounting, the couple respects the importance of unrestricted giving and finds satisfaction in annually supporting The Manchester Fund.

Their unrestricted donations give Manchester flexibility to respond to changing needs and are important to help provide the best technology, buildings and faculty necessary to provide every student with the best education possible, the couple said.

The Krolls hope their stewardship will enable students to have the full Manchester experience and achieve everything they seek and need in college while creating memories that last a lifetime. As for Doug and Linda’s best memory of Manchester: “It’s where we met!” they chorused.

“Two grateful sisters are we, remembering our days at MC.”

The Academic Center is a hub of activity, not only with classrooms, a 131-seat auditorium and faculty offices, but also with prospective students and their families visiting the adjacent admissions Welcome Center. Ever-ready during school hours with a quick pick-me-up and warm conversation is Sisters Café.

retired administrative assistant for The Hoover Co./Maytag, which “matched” her gifts to The Manchester Fund for many years. (Each also has underwritten a seat in Wine Recital Hall.)

“The atmosphere, and being in that kind of school, does a lot to build your character,” Carol adds. “It’s different than going to a state school.”

Some of the recipes in Sisters Café are family favorites, says Ruth, a retired elementary teacher and reading consultant for Kent City Schools in Ohio. “Our mother would make those for the children.”

Sport management major Katrin Muser ’15 heads to Sisters Café when she needs an energy boost to keep her focused on studying. “I like their snack cones because they are quick and easy to grab and the price is right.”

Chris Kowalski ’14, president of Student Senate, says Sisters Café reminds students and others in the campus community of the support Manchester is garnering. “The gift of the Café means people out there still believe in us here at Manchester. They believe in what we’re doing here and they believe we will succeed at it. It really helps tie all of Manchester together to become one community as a whole rather than being a university of a series of smaller communities.”

At the entrance to Sisters Café, accessible from the Mall and East Street, a plaque says it all:

“Two grateful sisters are we, remembering our days at MC. Come in away from the grind. Feed the body, refresh the mind.”

“The Sisters Café is the new place to be on campus,” reports The Oak Leaves campus newspaper. Thanks to Ruth ’54 and Carol ’58x Anstine of Ohio.

Sisters Café serves up lattes, coffees, soups, sandwiches, salads, breads, biscuits, scones and yummy sweets. Chocolate Scotcheroots from the Anstine family recipe book are favorites. Some of the recipes are created by Chef Chris of Chartwells food service in the MU Union. Starbucks beverages, teas and chai are brewed fresh all day long.

“We really wanted to do something for Manchester ... something that the students would enjoy,” says Ruth Anstine of their gifts to the Students First! campaign that manifested into the popular café.

The Anstine family has a legacy at Manchester. Mother Florence Siegle ’28 Anstine, brother Lowell Anstine ’51, sister-in-law Barbara Helsler ’51 Anstine, and a few cousins attended Manchester. “Manchester is a family tradition,” says Carol with pride. She’s a

David Mann '70

This former member of the Board of Trustees and his wife R. Jane McKinley '69 Mann have steadfastly supported the Union, The Manchester Fund and Spartan athletics through the years.

“As a first-generation college grad, what I learned and experienced at Manchester set me up for a life of feeling for others and doing what we can to help the community that has provided us with a wonderful quality of life and standard of living.”

MU giving: an investment in humanity

What do a history degree, a career in banking and a father's legacy have in common? They fuel Chris Caldwell's '87 passion and stewardship for Manchester University.

A self-described “faculty brat,” Caldwell grew up on campus where his father, Carl Caldwell, taught history from 1971 to 1989 alongside Professor David Waas '47. Young Caldwell's yearning for education continued to thrive as he earned a master's degree in history from Ohio University. Then a part-time job as a teller brought him to new learning grounds and a new passion: banking. Today, he is a vice president for MutualBank in Muncie.

Caldwell and his wife Bettie have donated an office in the Academic Center to honor his parents and are annual faithfuls to The Manchester Fund. “Manchester is a phenomenal steward of the donated dollar,” says Caldwell, who is impressed by the use of the “bones” of the former Holl-Kintner Hall of Science for the new Academic Center.

The Caldwell's also are impressed that Manchester continues its legacy of inclusivity, offering a challenging education and a great experience to a diverse campus of students. “Your background didn't matter at Manchester,” recalls Caldwell.

Although Bettie Caldwell is not a Manchester graduate, she considers Manchester University an investment in humanity, and believes the Mission is reflected in its graduates in action. The Caldwell's remain in contact with several Manchester alumni through Church of the Brethren services and activities in Indianapolis.

Caldwell says he hopes his philanthropy will continue to give students the kinds of experiences he had at Manchester, and do for someone else what someone did for him.

Gifts are “opportunities for students”

From her office atop the David Letterman Communication and Media Building at Ball State University, Beth Messner '84 serves her community through education and serviced-based leadership.

As an associate professor of communication studies, Messner is on a mission not only to educate students, but also to give a voice to victims of hate speech through her awarded program, “Learning from a Legacy of Hate.” The program’s website (www.bsu.edu/learningfromhate) is filled with videos of persons telling of their experiences with hate speech and of its effects. The program provides a wealth of curriculum and training on ways to combat prejudice and intolerance. Messner calls it “counter messaging and ways to challenge hate speech.”

Leading from a position of compassion, Messner’s dedicated annual giving to The Manchester Fund is truly about putting Students First! “I do not think about my gifts in terms of brick and mortar, I think of them as opportunities for students.”

Messner remembers her time as an undergraduate student on the North Manchester campus. A speech and theatre education major with an English minor, she credits Manchester with giving her a foundation for her career as an educator. “It taught me my craft well,” she says. “But it was through the gifts of others I was able to receive my education.”

“I internalized the importance of service at Manchester and I try to live that in my professional life.” Messner realizes that alumni gifts need not be sizable to count both for the alma mater and the donor. “Even minor gifts help me enact the values instilled in me.”
