2004-2005 STEWARDSHIP

Introducing Pathways: an exciting new way to explore faith and vocation

CELEBRATING

Manchester College donors, a new president,
the Science Center,
and all that is Manchester

Manchester College students have always relied on the generosity of others for their education here, from the early days of paper and pencil to the I-pods and laptops of 2005. This magazine celebrates the many generous persons who have opened doors for students. We received each of these gifts with gratitude and hope.

We are grateful for the actual dollars acknowledged in this report because those dollars pay our employees, heat our buildings, and put gasoline in our lawn mowers.

We are grateful for the spirit of the gifts because these are gifts that not only raised our spirits, but also raised the spirits of the donors. If my husband Dave's and my experience is typical, these donors had very good feelings when they put their checks in the envelopes and dropped them in a mailbox. Here at the College, we had a good feeling when we opened those envelopes.

We are grateful for the trust of donors to give their gifts to help students they may never meet. We have students whose parents are school bus drivers, farmers, teachers, physicians, nurses, and long-haul truckers. We have students who work several jobs to stay in school. We have students who save and save and save to afford one international January class. Our donors assist each of these students, and we are grateful for their trust.

We also received these gifts with hope.

We hope our donors will continue to support Manchester College with their monetary gifts because we need those dollars to keep doors open for the students. We hope that new donors will make their first gifts and realize that it is more deeply satisfying to give than to receive. We hope that all of us who benefited from the kindness of others as we pursued our own education will pass on those gifts.

For past and present gifts, we are deeply grateful.

For new gifts, we are hopeful.

In the words of Dag Hammarskjöld, "For all that has been – THANKS! For all that will be – YES!"

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "J. Switzer". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

We are honored and privileged to thank each of you for your support of Manchester College. This contributors' Honor Roll is a celebration of gifts received during the College's fiscal year: July 1, 2004 through June 30, 2005.

Manchester College is grateful for every gift. As director of The Manchester Fund, however, I must underscore appreciation for gifts to this important fund. The Manchester Fund helps all our students in many, many ways.

Your gift to the fund provides

- Financial aid for our students, helping to make Manchester College affordable. A full 100 percent of our students are receiving financial aid.
- Academic quality. U.S. News & World Report says Manchester is among the "Best Colleges" in the Midwest. The Manchester Fund helps keep the College in such high regard.
- Support for our top-notch faculty. More than 94 percent of our classes are taught by full-time faculty and 93 percent of our faculty have earned Ph.D.s or the highest degree in their fields. Our students are taught by an exceptionally talented faculty in a small class setting.
- Maintenance of our beautiful campus. Our dedicated, meticulous groundskeepers and their student crews work long hours trimming, planting, clearing, with added diligence this summer and fall toward a gorgeous setting for the Science Center dedication and inauguration of President Jo Young Switzer.
- Technology upgrades. Manchester maintains a 6:1 student-computer ratio to provide our students with the tools they need to succeed in our increasingly fast-paced world. In addition, Manchester's technology staff supports students' personal computers. Last year, the tech staff worked on more than 400 student-owned PCs.
- Support for student activities and organizations. Our students are bright, energized ... and busy! Manchester supports more than 55 student clubs and organizations that enrich student life and the overall educational experience at Manchester College.

The Manchester Fund provides a solid foundation for our students each and every year. If you are unsure of where to place your valued support, start with The Manchester Fund.

Thank you, again, for your generous gifts. Manchester College's programs, students, faculty and campus are stronger because of you.

PLEASE TELL US.

Did we get it right? Rita J. Schroll, divisional assistant for the Office of College Advancement, is a stickler for detail, and are we glad! As administrator of this Honor Roll of stewardship, she wants your name to appear exactly the way you want. Please tell us about any changes you prefer on the reply card that is inserted into this magazine or e-mail Rita at rjschroll@manchester.edu. Thanks!

Manchester College surges into latest $4.5 million challenge issued by Lilly Endowment Manchester College is, without question, up to the latest fund-raising challenge of Lilly Endowment Inc., says President Jo Young Switzer. Acknowledging Manchester's outstanding success in previous challenges, the Endowment is offering $1.50 for every $1 the College receives from its donors – up to $4.5 million!

"Lilly Endowment's announcement comes at the perfect time for Manchester," said President Switzer. "We have just built a $17 million Science Center and renovated our recital hall – both without debt. Matching challenges from the Lilly Endowment made both of those campaigns a success.

"Manchester graduates and friends are practical people who see the value in a match like this one!"

Manchester has 19 months to raise $3 million to receive the $4.5 million and may use the funds "for any proper college purpose," said the Endowment. The matching period is June 1, 2005 to Dec. 31, 2006.

"This matching challenge jump-starts our new strategic plan, which continues our tradition of integrating strong academics with community service," said President Switzer. The new strategic priorities that the Board of Trustees adopted this fall will guide program and construction decisions – and fund drives.

Manchester College makes good use of Lilly Endowment incentives. The College raised more than $5 million toward a $3 million challenge, surpassing every participation goal for alumni, parents, staff, faculty, friends and students.

"Manchester College appreciates the confidence of Lilly Endowment, and its continuing generous support," President Switzer said. "We will put its generosity to good use."

Gia Mason of the MC Office of Multicultural Affairs and sophomore Nkechi Onyeji joined a Red Cross blood drive for hurricane victims.

MC, neighbors unite for hurricane relief

The Manchester College community and its neighbors collected $17,500, and more than 70 blood donors turned out to aid victims of Gulf Coast hurricanes.

The campus effort organized immediately, collecting cash at football games, in residence hall contests, at student activities ... and from North Manchester neighbors and Church of the Brethren congregations.

During January Session 2006, the student chapter of Habitat for Humanity will take its home-building skills to a Mississippi community and other volunteer trips are forming.

In addition, the College offered quick enrollment and financial aid packaging for students whose colleges were closed by the hurricane. However, no students accepted the offer.

Funds collected were forwarded to the Church of the Brethren, which is collaborating its emergency response and relief with Church World Service.

Next up: a new College Union!

A new, bigger, accessible College Union is only $560,000 away!

The Union is the final construction project of The Next Step! campaign, and fund-raising is heightening toward a spring 2006 groundbreaking – before prices rise yet again.

The new redesigned designs focus on stewardship without sacrificing the important: versatile dining areas, accessibility for handicapped, on-site Campus Store, career services and a center for student activities.

The new cost is about $7.5 million. Originally, when the campaign began, the College Union had a $5 million price tag. That escalated to $8.6 million over the past few years. Last summer, President Jo Young Switzer asked the architects to return to the drawing board with a goal of controlling costs. The new design seems a perfect fit for Manchester College.

All that's left is $560,000, and then stand back ... those shovels will fly next spring!

LEADERSHIP.

Senior accounting major Huong Nguyen of Kendallville, Ind., is the first Manchester student to receive the Richard J. Wood Community Commitment Award from the Indiana Campus Compact. Nguyen is in her fourth year as student director of MC's Office of Volunteer Services. She leads campaigns for Hunger and Homeless, food drives and blood drives and has volunteered as a tutor, helped international students with their tax forms and so much more!

TALL OAKS.

With generous donations from Trustees and other friends of the College, Tall Oaks now has a much larger dining room and kitchen for entertaining, a new roof and is more accessible for guests. The president's residence was redecorated and renovated in summer 2005 for President Jo Young Switzer.

Inauguration speakers included, from left, Campus Pastor James Chinworth; Janis Fahs, associate professor of accounting and business and chair, Faculty Executive Committee; Trenton Marsh, president, Student Government; Hans Giesecke, president, Independent Colleges of Indiana; Ronald McAllister, president, Brethren Colleges Abroad; and Allen Kahler, district executive, Church of the Brethren. (Patty Grant, local civic leader, was at the podium.)

President Jo Young Switzer delivers her inauguration address on Sept. 17, 2005.

Our 117 years have been possible only because of the generosity of those who care about this good College. I am only the current president of a long history of presidents who have been entrusted with this precious legacy. I will do my best for Manchester College ...

*...With integrity based in the values of the Church of the Brethren
...With high expectations for our students
...With well-credentialed faculty who have brains and compassion
...With support from alums and friends
...With sufficient budget and growing endowment to continue and strengthen these rare and important traditions
...With my hard work – freely given*

*For all that has been – THANKS!
For all that will be – YES!*

– Dag Hammarskjöld

Manchester's First Lady of 30 years, Pat Helman dies

Patricia Kennedy Helman – beloved first lady and hostess of Manchester College for 30 years – died Friday, Oct. 28, 2005. The wife of former President A. Blair Helman was 80.

As first lady from 1956 to 1986, Mrs. Helman served as ambassador, hostess and patron of the arts. The couple's portrait hangs in the great room of Helman Hall, a residence hall named in their honor, and her portrait hangs in Tall Oaks.

She authored four books, was a published poet and playwright. As an ordained minister of the Church of the Brethren (as is her husband), Mrs. Helman spoke in hundreds of churches and to secular groups throughout the Midwest.

Memorials may be made to The A. Blair and Patricia K. Helman Honor Scholarships/ Manchester College Presidential Leadership Awards in care of the Manchester College Office of College Advancement, 604 E. College Ave., North Manchester, Ind. 46962

MC honors Marden leadership, five students for philanthropy

Manchester College has awarded 13th President Parker G. Marden and College First Lady Ann Wagner Marden with its highest honor for philanthropy. The couple, who retired in summer 2005 after 11 years of service to the College, received Manchester's Certificate of Responsible Philanthropy.

In presenting the award, President Jo Young Switzer praised them for "creating an environment that nurtures a sense of self identity, a dedication to the service of others and an acceptance of the demands of responsible citizenship – and exemplifying those values in action."

Also honored at the April 11 annual Philanthropy Convocation were five students: Patricia A. Gentry '05 of Swayzee, Ind.; Wendy J. Matheny '05 of Peoria, Ill.; Meagan E. Harlow '06 of Clayton, Ohio; Sarah A. Reed '06 of Mishawaka, Ind., and Tiffany A. Maple '06 of Greentown, Ind.

During the Marden years, Manchester College's campus grew with a $17 million Science Center, library and PERC expansion, Wine Recital Hall, technological advances and in scholarship funding. The College now is more diverse in student body, faculty and leadership.

Ann Marden heightened awareness and raised funds for area shelters for abused women and children.

"With Ann, it has been my privilege to invest 11 years of my life in an institution that I like, and respect – both in mission and the way that this mission is met," Marden told the audience.

All five students are active in many volunteer activities, but each focuses on favorite causes.

Gentry, who majored in business administration with a double minor in nonprofit management and German, focused on Habitat for Humanity.

Maple, an elementary education major, volunteered on a mission trip at a Salvation Army and half-way house for socially challenged men in Germany.

Harlow, Matheny and Reed have traveled to Togo and Benin in West Africa to work with ECHOPPE Inc., which works with women to break their cycle of poverty.

Harlow is majoring in elementary education, with an endorsement in mild intervention. Matheny has a double major in political science and French; Reed's major is Spanish and music.

Alumni philanthropists are listed here by their Manchester College class.

SERVICE.

Involvement of Manchester College students in volunteer activities continues to rise. Last school year, MC students contributed more than 10,870 hours of service to their communities, churches and the College. Students gave more than 5,000 hours to the Indiana Reading Corps. (Tutor Wendi Coffey '08 of Angola, Ind., is pictured here).

... that's how much the 2005 Auburn Golf Outing raised for Manchester College athletics on June 10, a giving record for the annual gathering in Auburn, Ind.

Led by 1947 grads Dortha Martz King and Til King, and Trustee Ken Metzger '67, the golf giving has grown considerably from the first Auburn outing 15 years ago, which netted $350.

The couple joined the Manchester College Athletics Hall of Fame this fall. The next Auburn Outing is June 9, 2006.

At a workshop on refugees during a TEV opportunity in Georgia, Sarah Besser '06 of Indianapolis and Erin McCourt '06 of Freemont, Calif., helped paint a playground for refugee children.

Manchester embarks on Pathways, a transformed program of exploring vocation

Manchester College students will explore the intersection of faith and vocation in a transformed program energized by a three-year $393,821 grant from Lilly Endowment Inc. that the College vows to at least double with fundraising.

“Pathways, centered on service opportunities, will help students consider where they will invest their lives and what gives their lives meaning,” said Pathways Director Thelma S. Rohrer, also director of international studies and academic enrichment, and an art instructor.

Pathways is uniquely Manchester, centralized at Manchester for Manchester students. It is a transformation of the expiring Theological Exploration of Vocation (TEV) service program, also funded with a generous Lilly Endowment grant.

With deep Church of the Brethren roots, Pathways enables Manchester students of all faiths to test the theological waters. “It will give students opportunity to ponder the question of “Who am I?” when connecting faith and academia, and to share the experience with faculty, staff and community mentors,” said Rohrer.

Across the United States, Manchester students will embark on summer service projects through volunteer agencies. Others will join a group abroad, tracing the heritage of the Church of the Brethren. Still others will draw their own road maps, with Imagination Grants that place them in environments where they are unique (in race, language, etc.)

“I planned a day program for kids, worked in a shelter, cooked meals by myself for 70 people a night, and I found a place in a volunteer community where I knew no one.”

Jessica Hamlyn '04 of New Albany, Ind., of her summer in Alamosa, Colo.

"I found an inner strength, an ability to provide care and comfort to those in pain, that I truly enjoy the company I keep in my alone moments, that I am enough and more, and that I have enough to do the vital work of this life in this world."

Caitlin Haynes '08 of Glen Arm, Md., on working as a caregiver in a Texas hospice on the Mexican border.

to perform a service without pay. All will share what they have learned with the College community afterward.

It starts this summer, with 10 students in service projects, followed by 10 more the following summer, and 10 more in 2008. Over the next three years, 20 additional students will examine Brethren heritage, and nine will have completed imagination grants around the world.

"Students at Manchester unhesitatingly volunteer and give of themselves, but few students understand why they are volunteering," notes Rohrer, who will direct the program with the assistance of Wendi A. Hutchinson, director of church relations.

Just as in TEV, students will work in soup kitchens and homeless shelters in Washington, D.C., in Houston, in California and in Chicago. Advanced students will write their personalized "Imagination Grants" that will take them abroad and even farther outside their "comfort zones." In the past, students have served in Thailand, Tanzania, India and New Zealand.

Manchester's Office of College Advancement will lead fund-raising efforts toward matching the Lilly Endowment Inc. challenge, with a combined goal of $787,642 over three years.

Students joining the program are encouraged to partner with their local faith communities to finance their exploration and to link with mentors. While Manchester is a Church of the Brethren college, its students come from a wide range of faith traditions and more than 30 denominations.

By the end of 2008, the program will be self-sustaining, and Manchester will have built fresh connections with service agencies and religious partners, said Rohrer.

"We've made a commitment. This is going to be with us at least 10 years and will become a part of our identity."

For more about Pathways, contact the director, Thelma Rohrer: 260-982-5327

Nicole Connett '04 of Noblesville, Ind., Sam Cox '07 of Kokomo, Ind., Daniel Rodriguez '07 of Barquisimeto, Venezuela and Sarah Oren '06 of Vandalia, Ohio, daily created a reflections scrapbook during their "Gracious Justice" TEV trip to Georgia.

"I will never view poverty, hunger, homelessness, racism and sexism the same way I did before ... As I struggle to make sense of the injustices I saw, I am left with nothing but questions ..."

Erin Bowers '07 of Fort Wayne, after a summer serving the homeless and low income of Washington, D.C.

DISCOVER.

At the Science Center dedication, Jean Johnson '55 Oxender, widow of Professor Dale L. Oxender '54, Ph.D., donned a lab coat and celebrated the new biochemistry lab donated in memory of her husband. This is what MC students see when they enter SC 332: Teaching was his love, research his passion. Enter to learn, discover, share for the good of all human kind.

MC celebrates philanthropist with honorary degree ceremony

On Sept. 15, 2005, Manchester celebrated Wabash, Ind., resident Richard E. Ford for his life work as a philanthropist and preserver of the humanities and fine arts at home and abroad.

President Jo Young Switzer presented Ford with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

"Richard Ford has enriched the county, the state and the nation with his commitment to the humanities," Switzer told the Wine Recital Hall audience of community leaders from Wabash and North Manchester, and family and friends of the Fords. "He connects people who want their communities to thrive and come alive."

Eastman brings experience to College Advancement

E. Michael Eastman brings a background in fund-raising, alumni administration and strategic planning as Manchester College's new vice president for College Advancement.

Eastman led major gift development at Ball State University for three years and was alumni director at three other universities. He holds a Ph.D. in adult and community education from BSU, and master's degrees in religious education and education administration.

Memorial and Endowed Funds strengthen the College by providing financial assistance for student aid, faculty development and lectureships.

Those contributions received to these funds during the 2004-2005 fiscal year are gratefully acknowledged and identified with an asterisk. Those in bold are newly endowed funds.

MISSION STATEMENT

Manchester College respects the infinite worth of every individual and graduates persons of ability and conviction who draw upon their education and faith to lead principled, productive, and compassionate lives that improve the human condition.

VALUES STATEMENT

As a primarily undergraduate, residential, liberal arts community rooted in the tradition of the Church of the Brethren, Manchester College values:

- Learning, because high academic expectations in an environment combining liberal arts and professional preparation equip graduates to live healthy, productive, and principled lives;
- Faith, because our diverse faiths call us to make the world a kinder and better place, establish justice, build peace amid strife, and model lives of agape (selfless love), tikkun olam (repairing a broken world), and salam (peace);
- Service, because committing self in service to others connects faith with action and abilities with convictions;
- Integrity, because honesty and trust are the foundations of teaching and learning, enriching, enduring relationships, and strong communities;
- Diversity, because understanding differences develops respect for ethnic, cultural, and religious pluralism; an international consciousness; and an appreciation for the infinite worth of every person; and
- Community, because a positive community sharpens self-identity, promotes acceptance of the demands of responsible citizenship, and transforms conflict into mutual respect.

STRATEGIC PLAN 2005-10

VISION STATEMENT

By 2010, Manchester College will be:

- Distinguished as an academic community that graduates individuals of ability and conviction whose lives are principled, productive, and compassionate;
- Known for encouraging students to develop their minds, faiths, and values to serve others;
- Financially healthy and able to sustain and strengthen its core academic and co-curricular programs;
- A diverse, residential community of 1300 academically qualified and motivated students drawn worldwide but primarily from the Midwest; and
- Equipped to embrace strategic change.

STRATEGIC PRIORITIES

1. Tell a focused, distinctive, and compelling institutional story to raise the College's visibility in the Midwest.
2. Align academic, student life, co-curricular, and athletic programs to realize the College's vision.
3. Enroll a student body strong enough to succeed academically and large enough to meet financial goals.
4. Develop and implement a comprehensive facilities and technology program.
5. Strengthen the College's ability to attract and retain exceptional faculty and staff who will lift the College toward its aspirations.
6. Ensure sustainable financial health.

Two special books filled with Manchester College memories

Just published, The History of the Natural Sciences at Manchester College, by Bill Eberly, Ph.D., '48, professor emeritus of biology.

This history has it all ... Manchester's contributions to chemistry, biology, physics, mathematics and computers, with scores of endearing stories behind the scenes.

Every science graduate receives mention – from a Nobel Prize Laureate, inventors, researchers and physicians to environmentalists, teachers and public servants. This complete history is a tribute to curious students and a dedicated science faculty, including one who radio broadcast his lectures from his sickbed.

Placing the Light on the Stand is a visual essay of Manchester College, with nearly 100 scenes from the thousands captured by photographer Chuck Savage during his annual visits to campus over the past decade.

This beautiful book offers a chronicle of the past decade and a revealing look at the "essence" of the College as a place of beauty and character for learning, working and living.

September 16, 2005

More than 600 people gathered to dedicate the $17 million Science Center, gloriously gleeful with the moment. Speeches, hand-shaking, prayers of thanks and laughter filled the Physician's Atrium, the halls and classrooms.

Alumni and other donors traveled across the country to join in the celebration, tour the new learning facility and to marvel over the presentations at the Science Symposium.

Christine Zirkle '06, president of the award-winning Manchester College chapter of the American Chemical Society, addressed the crowd.

William J. Eberly '48, professor emeritus of biology and author of the newly published History of the Natural Sciences at Manchester College, joined a long line of students, faculty, staff and friends who remembered treasured faculty and staff by placing a memory stone in a basket.

Celebrating the Science Center

On September 17, 2005, J. Bentley Peters, chair of the Board of Trustees, presented and charged Dr. Jo Young Switzer as the 14th president of Manchester College before a crowd of almost 1,000 in Cordier Auditorium. More inauguration scenes are on Pages 22-23. Photograph by Scott McAlpine.
